

BURN DOWN EDEN

Burn Down Eden is celebrating their 10th anniversary of existence in 2024. There's no better opportunity to have new songs released by the Technical/Blackened Death Metal force from Berlin.

With "DISMAL" the five piece is going to release the FIRST of TWO EPs on April 05th, 2024. With the second EP being released later the same year, both EPs will join forces by the end of 2024 becoming a nice LP release. The wild ride starts on March 1st, 2024 with the first single coming out called "Reap The Apocalypse", It's the first of three videos the guys are planning to release, just for the first EP release. They know how to celebrate.

Following the band's development over the last decade, every release that came out was a huge step up to the respective predecessor. It's now up to the market to decide, if the guys did it once again and are going to make the next step on their journey. We say: With "DISMAL", Burn Down Eden builds the foundation that you can't wait for the second EP to come out.
